Ecology of Infectious Diseases

- Studies the relationships between pathogens, humans, other animals, and the environment.
- Investigates infectious disease transmission and control.
- Focus on pathogens affecting wildlife, livestock and human populations.
- Case studies: measles, rabies, West Nile virus, and Lyme disease
- Interdisciplinary

Course contents delivered via Carmen with lectures, discussions, and activities.

PUBHEHS 5335 (3 credits)

Course Days/Time:
Tuesday/Thursday 12:45 to 2:05 pm

Instructor:
Dr. Laura Pomeroy
614-292-2942
pomeroy.26@osu.edu

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF PUBLIC HEALTH
cph.osu.edu