Ohio State Sponsored Programs
These programs sponsored by Ohio State allow you to study with a group of Ohio State students along with a faculty or staff member or graduate teaching assistant serving as resident director.

India - Public Health Perspectives
This study abroad program will introduce you to a variety of public health, sociological and cultural issues with an emphasis on Indian perspectives. Your studies during this May program will take place in the southwestern coastal town of Manipal, India. Through dynamic academic instruction and multiple field trips, you will compare and contrast major regional, domestic and international public health issues and how they interact with and influence one another.

• go.osu.edu/PublicHealthIndia

Japan - Public Health Perspectives
Through this May study abroad program, you will learn about public health in Japan and its history, Japan as an industrial country and health issues affected by environmental factors. Lectures will be given at the University of Tokyo and the main field trip will be to the Hiroshima prefecture.

• go.osu.edu/PublicHealthJapan

China - Public Health Perspectives
This May program is designed for students who are interested in learning more about global public health, especially in developing countries. The first two weeks will be based in Dalian, China and the third week will take place in Beijing. Field visits are vital components of this program and will provide you with an understanding of the historical evolution of the region, culture, society and creative solutions toward global public health and human development.

• go.osu.edu/PublicHealthChina

Finland - Public Health Perspectives
This May program provides a basic introduction to global public health and discusses links between public health, educational, social and economic development with special emphasis on Finnish and Estonian societies. You will explore unique global health concepts and practice in this region while critically examining the role of culture, education, economy and environment on public health-related issues.

• go.osu.edu/PublicHealthFinland

For more information
To learn more about these study abroad programs, eligibility requirements, academic credit, application deadlines and study abroad coordinator contact information, visit oia.osu.edu/study-abroad.

Please keep in mind that all information is subject to change.